An Invitation to Love Jesus Newsletter Messages of Love December 2023 Issue 331

Editorial

The Messages

The Messages this month offer much hope for the year ahead for Jesus says 'the days of lies are fast coming to an end and the Day of Cleansing fast approaches.' He calls us to wake up and prepare NOW! He says 'many changes will be seen in this year to come' and we are not ready if we are not dying to ourselves! Let this year be the year we prioritise Jesus, our prayer and our dying to self so we will not be in slumber when He calls His workers to the harvest.

Writing from the Patricks

At the beginning of December Patrick and two other servants went to Saint Maximilian House of Prayer, L'Absie, France. They were trying to sort out some issues with the roof. While there they also had the opportunity to have a tour of the Abbey which was in the process of renovation. There they saw some of the magnificent artwork recently uncovered and you can read about this inside.

The Articles

Many of the articles in this Newsletter are about how to follow Jesus. In 'The Houses of Prayer' article, there is a Message in which Jesus advises us how to begin and remain on the Path to Him. This is very enlightening. The articles,

"Jesus Brought Evans..." and "Memories of Cosío" both focus on what it is to follow Jesus.

In the Message entitled 'First get to know Me', Patrick asks Jesus to explain to us how we can begin to follow Him. Jesus answers in a very clear and simple way.

Reading these and trying to live them is a great way to begin our new year. They realign our focus, as it were, to follow Him who is All.

The Messages of Love

as given to the two Patricks

Friday 1 December 2023

My children, I Come to bring Freedom to this world.

I Come to bring Peace to My people.

I Come to break the chains of injustice.

I Come to destroy the web of lies that covers every country of this world.

Children, I Come to show this world how blind they have become.

I will show this world that I am a real God and that all have been lied to about Me.

Trust Me, I come to release My Power, once again, in this world so all have a chance to return before I cleanse creation of the evil allowed in by man's sin.

Trust Me and believe.

I Love you.

Saturday 2 December 2023

Have faith in Me and fight the self in you. Do not give in to the temptations that only lead to sin. Fight the first thought and you will overcome.

Trust Me, it is self that blocks you from coming to Me in Truth. Have faith and do what I say and Eternal Life will be yours.

Remember, if you try to follow Me in truth but fall many times, I can see if there is truth in your heart; if there is, you will have Eternal Life with Me. I want you to try, children, but you must try in truth and you will be with Me.

Trust Me and remember the most important Words I speak to you in these Messages of Love are "I Love you".

Sunday 3 December 2023

Have faith in Me and prepare, children. The days are dark but I am about to bring the Light back into this world and I need you ready.

Trust Me, children, trust in My Love for you and be prepared for, many will be in need of My Help and I will need you to help gather the harvest.

Trust Me.

I Love you.

Monday 4 December 2023

Have faith, children of Mine, and do not put your trust in the things of this world that will decay and disappear but, rather, put your faith in Me and have Eternal Life with Me in Heaven.

Trust Me, children, and walk this Path of dying to self. Fight the sin in your life and walk this Path in Truth.

Trust Me, children, and believe in My Words of Love that I have given to guide you through this time.

Trust Me.

I Love you.

Tuesday 5 December 2023

My children, have faith, I will fulfil all the Words I have spoken through My two. I will bring this world to its knees and let all see what has been happening through those in power. I will put an end to their evil.

My people will learn and understand that it was the plan of lucifer to destroy My Truth and, so, Me. All will see what has been happening; nothing will remain hidden.

Trust Me, children, and prepare.

I Love you.

Wednesday 6 December 2023

Have faith and trust in Me! This time of darkness will end and My children will live in Peace and this world will know Joy, My people will know their God. I will not desert you, children. I will not leave you orphans.

Trust Me, I will guide you through this time. Believe in Me, children, I am with you and My Power will flow into this world.

Trust Me.

I Love you.

Friday 8 December 2023

Feast of the

Immaculate Conception

My children, I am with you, have faith in Me and hold on to My Truth, no matter what those within My Church say or do. My Church is full of liars and cheats; they look for the needs of self and not to the good of My people.

Trust Me and believe I Come to destroy the rot within My Church and this world. I Come, children, keep My Truth within your hearts. I Love you.

Saturday 9 December 2023

My children, look at My Words and see how I have Warned you of the events that are now happening in this world and My Church. He who is supposed to guide My Flock, has deserted the Truth and now leads My Flock on a path to perdition.

I have Warned you for centuries that the devil would take over My Church through the free will of greedy men. Now, you see My Words come to pass, as those in power weed the good cardinals, bishops and priests from within My Church and cast them out so they cannot minister to My Flock. Trust Me, children, for I am going to intervene and show this world that I am not a dead God. I will empower My people and My True Church will grow in holiness and many miracles will show the people the True Power of their God.

Trust Me, children, and prepare.
I Love you.

Sunday 10 December 2023

Children, look around you. Read the signs of your times and prepare. I am Coming in these days to destroy the lies of this generation. Can you not see Me at Work, as those in power grow in confidence, as they begin to show their deception, as they grab for more power?

Trust Me: the more they reveal in their blindness, so people will begin to see and understand how they have been deceived by those who purport to do good for the countries of this world.

Remember, do not become caught up in the anger that approaches fast. Stay close to Me and forgive. Trust Me, children.
I Love you.

Monday 11 December 2023

My children, see Me and allow Me to guide you upon the Path of Truth I set before you. You have entered a time of great sorrow for My people, as they see My Truth being torn apart by the brigands who have entered My Church, by listening to the lies of lucifer. They are the ones who need many prayers because they walk a dark path that leads to hell.

Many of these poor souls will never listen and will be lost to Me for eternity but a few will listen and return. Pray, children, that they listen before it is too late.

Trust Me and let Me guide you.

I Love you.

Tuesday 12 December 2023

Have faith in Me and prepare. Children, your God is at Work in this world and all is about to change suddenly and this world will be in confusion but, do not fear, simply know the Hand of your God is at Work to show mankind how little they truly know about creation.

All creation is obedient to Me, your God. I created all that you see and do not see; it is only I who truly understand creation.

Mankind, you have meddled in things you do not understand. So much of your technology was given to you by lucifer to destroy your belief in Me.

Mankind, you have believed his lies and have begun to walk the path of your own destruction. You have accepted the blood of the innocent into your bodies through your vaccines.

What a blind generation you are! You freely walk a path of evil that leads you to your own destruction in the fires of hell. I listen as many of you say that you do not care, you are blinded to the Truth, children, that I have Warned you of. You think this way because you are convinced that I do not exist.

Children, I am about to show this world that I do exist, it is up to each one to accept and return to Me or not. Many will return but, so many will refuse and this earth will dissolve into fire and only My remnant will survive the cleansing of their God.

Trust Me and walk the Path of Truth I set before you.

Believe.
I Love you.

Wednesday 13 December 2023

My children, the return of faith has begun. I will now intervene to show this world the Truth of its ways. I will show all that has been done in secret. I will reveal to this world the Truth behind the lies that nations have accepted and freely fallen into the web spun by lucifer. All will be seen and I will triumph over all evil, mankind will know Peace.
Trust Me.
I Love you.

Thursday 14 December 2023 Feast of Saint John of the Cross

Have faith, children, and believe in the Words I give so that you too can know and follow Me in Truth. Self is what drives you to sin and self must be overcome in order to walk the Path of Truth I set before you.

Have faith, children, and only look to My Truth, not the false truths told by the wolf who has infiltrated the Throne of My Peter. Children, I have told you of these things. Scripture is being fulfilled, the man of sin sits in the place he should not sit.

Prepare, children.

I Love you.

5 Do you not remember that when I was still with you, I told you these things?

6 And now you know what is restraining, that he may be revealed in his own time.

7 For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work; only He who now restrains will do so until He is taken out of the way.

8 And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord will consume with the breath of His mouth and destroy with the brightness of His coming.

9 The coming of the lawless one is according to the working of satan, with all power, signs, and lying wonders,

10 and with all unrighteous deception among those who perish, because they did not receive the love of the truth, that they might be saved.

11 And for this reason God will send them strong delusion, that they should believe the lie, 12 that they all may be condemned who did not believe the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness.

2 Thessalonians 2:5-12

Friday 15 December 2023

My children, it comes to the time when mankind celebrates My Birth but you have forgotten Me and My Love for you.

Children, come back to Me and ignore the calls of this world and its glitter.

Trust Me and find Peace within Me at this time.

This is a time to accept My Love and give it to those around you.

Trust Me, children, and love your brothers and sisters.

Trust Me, children.

I Love you.

Saturday 16 December 2023

Have faith in Me, children, and do as I say: die to self. Self is your enemy; self leads you to sin, sin leads to eternal death.

Avoid all occasions of sin; be on your guard at all times, children, guard your thoughts for your thoughts will lead you into sin.

Trust Me and only seek My Truth in your life and you will be My disciple of Love.

Trust Me.

I Love you.

Sunday 17 December 2023

My children, I come in these Words to give strength to My people. See what I say and know I am with you.

Many changes will be seen in this year to come. I will show this world much that has been forgotten and lost through the faithlessness of mankind. I will return all to My people and no evil will be able to stand before they who follow Me in Truth.

It has begun. I will return Truth to this world of darkness.

Trust Me, children, and believe.

I Love you.

Monday 18 December 2023

Children, look, I, your God, am here among you, cutting through the darkness. The web of lies will collapse and the people of this world will finally see what has been happening through the rich and the powerful.

Children, do not reject Me but remain with Me and remember, Love is your weapon.

Prepare, children, and know I am with you.

I Love you.

Tuesday 19 December 2023

My children, the liars within My Church grow in strength and power within their own eyes and do not see how they have walked freely into the trap of lucifer, who has guided them into their own destruction. Self has guided them to freely accept that their sin is not punishable and, so, they try to convince My people to accept sin as Truth.

Sin is darkness and it leads to hell if it is not fought against. I will not bless sin even though so many think it is the Way of Love. I did not create man to lust after man or woman to lust after woman: this is sin and, so, the man of sin who sits on the Throne of My Peter promotes sin as Truth. He is a liar and draws so many souls to eternal death in the fires of hell.

This is the Truth that this generation does not want to hear but, Truth it is!

My Mother Warned you of this in Fatima, Garabandal, Akita, Mount Melleray and so, so, many other places throughout this world.

My children, draw close to Me and do not be drawn in by the liars within My Church who wear the clothes of My priests. I Warned you to beware of the wolves in sheep's clothing; now, you can see this clearly when the man who calls himself Pope promotes the blessing of sin.

Be Warned! The days of lies are fast coming to an end and the Day of Cleansing fast approaches: be prepared.

I Love you.

Thursday 21 December 2023

My Truth is now to be seen in My followers as the people of this earth split into those who seek Truth and those who choose to blind themselves and accept the false truth promoted by the false leaders within My Church.

I have told you that they promote sin as Truth and now you can see this as they grow in confidence and openly begin to change the Laws of My Church to accept sin as Truth.

Be on your guard, children, and do not accept their false teachings for they lead many to hell every day.

Trust Me and prepare.

I Love you.

Friday 22 December 2023

Have faith in Me, children, and do not worry about the events of this world. I am about to change all and this world will be left in confusion for only My people will understand that the Hand of their God is at Work.

Trust Me, children, and prepare: I need you to be ready. The harvest is great but the labourers are few.

Come, children, and listen.

I Love you.

Saturday 23 December 2023

Children, have faith in Me and believe in the Words I give you.

I do not promote anger so do not fall into the trap of lucifer as he angers My people with the events that are happening within My Church.

Remember, Love is Our weapon. Love can cut through all the things that seem impossible to cut. I have told you, for many centuries, of this time that you now live in, yet, so few of you are willing to prepare, even though you read My Words.

Wake up, My children, and see the Truth: sin is your enemy, sin clouds your vision and blocks your ears so that you can neither see, hear or understand My Truth.

Die to self: dying to self is removing and repenting of the sin in your life.

Come, children, listen to Me. Prepare, now, so that you may see the Truth of what is happening around you. The Great Battle has begun and My Army slumbers.

Wake up, My children, I, your God, am about to intervene and you are not ready. I Love you, My people, I Love you. Pray for your brothers and sisters who are blind to My Truth; pray that they receive the Grace to see before the end.

Trust Me, My children, I, your God, Love you.

Prepare.

What Jesus and Mary have Warned us of Patricks:

Jesus has Warned us for many centuries to be aware of those within the Church who promote sin as Truth. This week, the man who calls himself Pope, issued a letter¹ telling priests that it was okay to bless disordered unions, those in gay union, divorced and remarried and those living together, outside marriage.

This cannot be for Jesus has told us sin leads to hell. Sin cannot be blessed unless the person or persons are willing to repent and change their sinful lives. This is the Teaching of the Church.

Jesus told us the parable about the bridegroom and, about the one at the wedding feast without a wedding garment, who was thrown out, where there would be weeping and gnashing of teeth (hell). The man who was thrown out was clothed in sin and not the robe of righteousness.

This Pope is promoting sin, he is changing the Truth that Jesus gave us by His Death and Resurrection. The Truth is, if we follow a deceiver like this Pope, and the ones he has around him who promote his lies, we will end up in hell.

We write these Words to warn you: it is time to prepare.

What is happening within the Church is what Jesus and Mary have been Warning us about for centuries. Now, it is plain to be seen, we have entered the Days of Tribulation where our faith is being put to the test.

So, as we can all see, we have little time left to prepare. We will pray for both you and your families, that you find the strength to follow Jesus in Truth.

Remember, we are all brothers and sisters in Jesus.

We pray that one day we will all meet in Heaven.

We pray that Jesus Blesses each one of you with His Love and Truth and Light.

Remember this, too, if you knock down a wall, it becomes a door.

Monday 25
December 2023
Christmas Day

My children, I Love you. I bring you Truth in these, My Words of Love and, I say, prepare. I Love you.

Tuesday 26
December 2023

Children of Mine, come. I call you in these Words to follow Me in Truth. Do not justify sin for sin leads to hell and, if you justify the sin in your life, then you are walking the path to hell.

See the Truth of My Words and follow Me in Truth and the Kingdom of God shall be yours. Trust Me, children, I speak the Truth.

I Love you.

Wednesday 27 December 2023

My children, I Love you and ask you for your help through prayer and sacrifice. Fight the sin in your lives and offer the fight to Me, as a sacrifice. So, so many are being lost to hell every day; help your brothers and sisters through your giving your fight to Me, show Me that you care, children.

Prepare.

I Love you.

Thursday 28 December 2023

Have faith in Me and believe in the Words I speak. They are Words of Life and Truth given to guide you through this Time of Great Tribulation and persecution of the Truth.

Trust Me, children, and fight the sin in your lives so that you can see the Truth.

Trust Me and do as I say and I will guide you through this time.

Trust Me.

I Love you.

Friday 29 December 2023

My children, have faith in Me, your God, I am at Work in this world of darkness and, soon, you will see the results of My Work as the web of lies collapses and the Truth is revealed of what is really happening in this world.

Those who believe themselves to be the leaders of this world will be seen for what they are. They are but the servants of evil and are the puppets of lucifer; they are within My Church and throughout this world.

Freemasonry is controlled by lucifer and it is responsible for much evil in this world. Trust Me and forgive. Do not react to what is revealed for anger is another trap lucifer uses against you.

Stay with Me and forgive those that are revealed and pray for those who are caught in the upcoming reaction and for those who accepted the evil and implemented it throughout this world.

Prepare, children, it is happening all around you.

Trust Me.

I Love you.

Saturday 30 December 2023

Have faith in Me, My children, and prepare. I tell you this over and over again for you have so little time left and so few have taken the time to prepare.

Trust Me, children, for I mean to take the learned and wise to their knees when they realise how little they truly know about My Creation. I need you ready for so many will be in need of help.

I need you ready, so that you can help those in need.

Trust Me, children of Mine, and take on My Words of Truth.

Trust Me.

I Love you.

Sunday 31 December 2023

My children, time moves on and so few have taken the time to prepare.

Trust Me, now, and begin.

I need your hands, your feet and your lips in this Work of Salvation.

Trust Me and prepare.

I Love you.

Writing from the two Patricks

ROOF TILES, AN ABBEY, MURALS, SAINTS AND DRAGONS AND A EUCHARISTIC MIRACLE!

Saint Maximilian House

In early December 2023, Patrick and two other servants went to Saint Maximilian House of Prayer, L'Absie, France, as they had to meet the mayor there because the roof, which had been fully replaced in 2018, was now needing attention as the tiles were beginning to loosen and fall off onto the street below. The mayor, in our absence and, to avoid anyone getting hurt, had put barriers around the House. During their few days there, and, after a lengthy conversation with the mayor, they got permission to put up scaffolding around the House so that the roof could be looked at in order to ascertain the damage with a view to either repair it or, replace the roof.

L'Absie

As the House is in the village centre, it is classed as a "listed building". Not only this but it is situated on the main road in and out of L'Absie where many huge trucks pass through. It happened that, during the conversation, it came up that L'Absie had been a market town in its heyday. Patrick told them that Cookstown was also a market town and had a somewhat famous main street that was one mile long and proceeded to show one of his photographs to reiterate this. The mayor then invited us to tour the Abbey, which is in the process of renovation work and to photograph it. An appointment for 10am the next morning was promptly arranged and the interpreter would come too. The mayor's husband was the tour guide.

Original frescos

During the renovation work of this 11th century Abbey, which had a chequered history of monks and the "100 Years war" with England, had passed through not a few hands. They found original frescos behind the paintwork on the walls when the crumbling plaster was removed and, in order to show these in a better light, there were a few casualties.

The depiction of Jesus' Life

Much to our disappointment, the whole altar piece had been removed from the central place and put into a side chapel in order to show the mural depiction of the Life of Jesus from Birth to Death and Resurrection. Patrick pointed out that before a certain date in Church history, no one would have dared to remove the altar piece from its central place. But, maybe, there is an argument for this as, in those days, the common people could not read or write but could clearly see the depiction of Jesus' Life, painted in vivid bright colours, possibly by the monks who had inhabited the Abbey. Patrick took pictures of these murals - some complete and some incomplete - while the tour guide brought to life, from among the fragmented murals - once seen, could not be unseen - the beautiful stories of saints who were martyred for Jesus. On one mural, the head of a woman and part of the body was found. The rest had been obliterated by time and erosion. In the bottom part of this mural, part of a wheel was uncovered and the restorers were able to figure out that this was a painting of Saint Catherine, who had been martyred on a wheel.

There were others of Saint George, the dragon slayer and Saint Martha and the Tarasque. It had the face of a lion and razor-sharp teeth. Its body was similar to a dragon and it had six legs ending in claws so sharp that one swipe could slice a boat in half. On its back was an armoured shell, like that of a turtle, with spikes running along it and, to finish off, it had a tail that it used like a whip. Patrick found the mural of Saint Gregory, the Great, fascinating.

Defaced deliberately

One of the most complete murals to be uncovered was a painting of the Eucharistic Miracle at the hands of Saint Gregory, the Great. The only part of this mural that is defaced – unfortunately – is Jesus' Face. The tour guide, through the interpreter, expressed a belief that it had been defaced deliberately in the past as a few, more unsavoury characters had taken over the Abbey in its history. We will never know.

Eucharistic Miracle

While there are many accounts of this outstanding miracle, probably over the years changed by the retelling in a sort of “Chinese whisperings”, they all serve one purpose: to witness to the miracle of Our Lord's true and never-ending Presence in the Eucharist. The following is an account from ‘Eucharistic Miracles’, a PDF put together by ‘Wordpress.com.’

ITALY, 6th-7th Century Eucharistic Miracle of Rome

...Among the most important works in which this Eucharistic Miracle, which occurred in Rome in the year 595, is mentioned in the Life of Blessed Pope Gregory, written by a deacon named Paul in 787.

It was the custom, in those days, that the bread used for the Eucharistic Celebration was prepared by the faithful themselves. Pope Saint Gregory, the Great, was a direct witness of this Miracle.

One Sunday, while he was celebrating Holy Mass, in the ancient church dedicated to St. Peter, it came to the time for distributing Holy Communion. He noticed that among the faithful standing in line, there was also present one of the women who had prepared the bread for the Consecration. She was laughing out loud.

The Pope, visibly disturbed, asked her what was the reason for her behaviour. The woman defended herself by saying, she could not bring herself to believe how it was possible that the bread, which she herself had prepared, with her own hands, by the words of consecration, had become the Body and Blood of Christ.

At that point, St. Gregory prohibited her from going to Communion and implored God to enlighten her. Just when he finished praying, he saw the very portion of bread, prepared by that woman, change into Flesh and Blood.

The woman, repentant, knelt down to the ground and began to weep. Even today, part of the Relic of the Miracle is preserved at Andechs in Germany, at the local Benedictine Monastery.

Our Lord is indeed alive

This trip to Saint Maximillian House of Prayer, turned out to be most enlightening in many ways. The history of the Church and the beautiful way that Jesus has of working through His Saints, depicted on a wall, covered up by centuries of plaster, now reveal that Our Lord is indeed alive and well. While many have fallen into disbelief in their faith, these paintings and others like them, reveal the stoic faith of many in bygone days. These, like us, did not have the burdened luxury of a phone to inform us and, indeed, remind us, that what Jesus said He would do, He is still doing it. This is reminiscent of Scripture:

For nothing is secret that will not be revealed, nor anything hidden that will not be known and come to light.

Luke 8:17

Jesus will uncover what is hidden

In these days of a darkness that would portray itself as a great light, Jesus will uncover what is hidden in order to Teach us how to see the real Truth even when everything around us is shrouded. Like the old plaster in the Abbey in L'Absie, we must die to the self that clings to us, that covers up the Gifts of the Holy Spirit, given to us at our Baptism. We must chip away at the self that does not want to see the Truth about ourselves, that we must face so that we may recognise the Master's Voice. We must push through the walls of self so as to reveal the vivid colours and beauty of Gods Love, hidden below the layers of sin and temptation but are kept from us by self, wanting to remain in the affections of the flesh.

Waiting to be revealed

Jesus speaks much of the dying to self in the Messages, in these days. But, like the layers of old plaster, the outward, selfish part of us is in control. It has the appearance of being good enough but is full of cracks and holes that tell us that all is NOT alright. Something is amiss, something needs changed, renewed. It is only when we begin to delve into self that much hidden sin is revealed and we are not as close to God as we would like to think we are.

To live for God, is to live in His WAY and not our own way and the beautiful colours of Gods enlightened WAY are just below the surface of self, just waiting to be revealed.

THE HOUSES OF PRAYER

Resurrection Retreat House, Ballina

Indifference to Me is great

If there is one place that needs a House of Prayer, it is this place (the place where the Patricks were at) for the indifference to Me is great. You may say that there is a House of Prayer here but I tell you that it is not a House of Truth¹. Much opposition from this place would be yours but perseverance is a sacrifice also and a noble one...¹ Jesus has spoken of the Houses of Prayer set up through the Messages of Love as safe Houses for the Truth. He wishes that the Truth be preserved in these Houses when there are so many lies abounding from His Church in these dark days. In this sense these Houses are different from other Houses of Prayer. Sunday 9 July 2006

Jesus' Plans

We began to look for this House in July 2009. Two houses were looked at and they were clearly not what Jesus wanted. Then the estate agent phoned and said he had a great house that he wanted to show us. This turned out to be the House Jesus wanted. It was bought and signed for in November 2009 and is known as Resurrection Retreat House. At present, this House is only for servants however we do not know what Jesus' Plans for it are in the future.

More or less finished

We had a private donation to help with this House and, because of this, it is more or less finished.

The Mission

While the Patricks were at this House finishing off some work in October 2022, Jesus gave the following Message.

Wednesday 5 October 2022

My children, I call you to pray. To pray is to talk to Me, knowing that I am in your heart. When you wake up in the morning, greet Me as the One that is beloved by you, One that is your Master and Friend. Spend moments reaching into your heart to find Me for I am there; you may not recognise Me, at first, but, I tell you, persist, as the woman who had lost her coin and searched for it until she found it. When she found it, she rejoiced and called her neighbours to celebrate with her.

I am the Coin you have lost. I am what you seek within you. Deepen your search every morning as this is the time that you begin your walk into the world and, a time when you could be lost to Me, easily. Give Me your day so that I might accompany you through it. Close your eyes in this time and seek Me for if you seek, you will find; if you knock, the door will be opened. No words need be spoken, only a Love that pulses between Us; a knowing that One is with the other and Love is ever present; Love is born anew within you. I am that Love. I am the Giver of Love and you are the taker of My Love.

Say often throughout the day: my Jesus, my Jesus, my Jesus, and I am there, I have never left. Think of your sin and how it keeps you from Me and resolve to leave that sin behind. Then, I can begin the preparations within you to come to your heart and soul; to live in you and sup with you. It is this sin that attaches you to the world; break that attachment by staying with Me throughout your day, loving Me and resolving to love Me more.

I call you to this, I long for you to do this. Were it that this fire were already lit in your heart and burning brightly, were it that there was no sin within you to block the Love that I give you, were it that you knew Me as much as I know you.

Begin this, My children, for the longing I have for you is Pain to Me.

I Love you.

Not open to the public

This House is not open to the public yet because Jesus said, and He has not changed anything yet, that it was to be, for now, a retreat House for the servants.

Jesus may well speak again but until He changes this, it will stay this way.

Jesus brought Evans Evans brought Jesus

Quite the journey

On Wednesday 19 April 2023, Jesus brought Evans to the Sacred Heart House of Prayer!

Evans, from Kenya in Eastern Africa, had begun his studies to become a priest in 2006. Yet he only became ordained this year, on the Feast of Our Lady of Lourdes, 11 February 2023. His seventeen years of formation has been quite the journey!

He became Facebook friends with Patrick during his time at this seminary, in 2008. In December 2009, Patrick, Chris, Matej and Aine visited Evans in Kenya and Jesus gave a Message asking Evans to help Him establish a House of Prayer there.

Jesus brought Evans here, to the House of Prayer in Cookstown, in 2016 and the Newsletter Team had an interview with him. This interview was published in the July 2016 Newsletter and continued on over two subsequent Newsletters.

Nineteen blessed days

With great joy, we had the pleasure of “Father” Evans stay with us for nineteen blessed days. He was given permission to say daily Mass privately here at the Sacred Heart House of Prayer. Some of us lucky to be here received Jesus’ Body and His Blood. It was a very special couple of weeks, like the best retreat anyone could ever dream of.

On the last Mass which Fr Evans said before he would depart for Canada, I felt such a grief well up inside me that I cried and cried. I could not control my emotions, much to my embarrassment! I was going to miss these Masses so much. They were so beautiful. We had such a holy priest, we had SonLight, everyone in the room prayed with love and sincerity and Jesus filled the room with Himself in every physical and spiritual way. I just couldn’t get over how generous Jesus was to us. It was overwhelming just how good He was and is.

Burned within them

I remember reading in John 6:26 how, after Jesus fed the five thousand, everyone searched for Him and went to great lengths to find Him and, when they did, He told them it was because they had eaten the Bread of Life and He told them not to labour for perishable things but to labour for that which lasts forever.

I recalled, too, in the Resurrection stories, of how the disciples’ hearts “burned within them” as Jesus spoke to them and explained the Scriptures on the Road to Emmaus.

Jesus is so, so good to us. He feeds us chicks like the pelican.

Sometimes we are so caught up in ourselves we can't see it or realise it. Then, all of a sudden, we catch a glimpse of Him, His Love poured out for us in such great abundance that we wonder why we waste so much time labouring in this world when we could simply be with Him.

Bitterness became gratitude

As well as the Sacred Masses here, I will miss Father Evans too. I had the privilege of listening to some of his struggles in life, how his mother was a teenager and tried abortion and suicide but failed. His mother left him with his granny, her mother, to raise him as her own and she ran off to the city slums where she died at a young age. Evans grew up thinking his aunts and uncles were his brothers and sisters, until his mother's death. He had to deal with his troubled background for many years and this set him back from becoming a priest. But everything is Grace with Jesus and Evans' bitterness became gratitude. He and his sister have found ways to help teenagers who are pregnant, like his mother was and, instead of them ending up living in the slums, being left for dead, or becoming prostitutes and their very souls being in danger of hell, Evans and his sister have been able to help many girls to learn new skills and set up their own businesses. This helps them provide an income for them and their baby. After his trip to Cookstown, Evans was given enough money, through various sources, to buy a small plot of land in Kenya. Here he can build a moderate house where he can invite teenage pregnant girls to come and find safe refuge.

He has an amazing story as you have been able to read in the interview we published over the previous Newsletters (first in 2016 then the update in 2023).

How do I welcome crosses?

Father Evans illuminated Jesus during his stay but he had been a diamond honed out of the darkness of a rock, cut and cut and cut and polished. He learned to embrace his cross and allowed Jesus to give him the Grace to turn his sufferings and hardship into something beautiful for God.

His remarkable story points an accusing finger at myself. How do I welcome crosses in my life? Do I embrace them? Do I allow Jesus to chisel me through them?

We have been born in this place, in these times, amongst this family and these friends, with the gift of faith. Do I allow Jesus to shape and fashion me? What do I give Him? If I gave Him my all, He could reach so many people and bring them to Heaven. Our prayer and sacrifice is so valuable. Let us not be afraid to let Jesus transform us. Jesus brought Evans here, and Evans brought Jesus to us.

Memories of Cosío

Work at dying to self

Patrick was talking to us recently about Saint Teresa of Avila's Interior Castle. He was telling us we have to work at dying to self to progress through the mansions in this 'Castle' (our interior life), to get to its centre: Jesus and union with God. Patrick reminded us that "it doesn't just fall out of the sky" but we have to put the work into it, make the effort.

As he spoke, I was reminded of the time I went to Cosío with the two Patricks and a few other servants. I look back at it and starkly remember the intensity of those three months but I also highly appreciate and value the precious Teachings Jesus bestowed upon us at Soledad House of Prayer.

I volunteered

I volunteered to go to 'Solitude' with the Patricks because the previous servants who had returned spoke wondrously of all they had learned, how Jesus had been there Teaching them, the great things which happened when they were obedient and the troubles that came when they weren't. I wanted this closeness to Jesus they all seemed to have arrived home with.

I packed my vanity bag, my expensive hair and beauty products, my cordless lady shave - which I had bought especially for the occasion - and off I went with my huge holiday atmosphere imagining how tanned I would be when I arrived home from Spain!

The Patricks suggested making a sacrifice of not washing our faces or brushing our teeth during the three day car and boat journey from Ireland, down through France and over to Spain! I couldn't believe my ears!

Jesus wanted to Teach us

Our primary mission was to replace the roof. We couldn't begin this because every day it rained and it rained and it rained. Dashed were the hopes of those of us who thought that we could sort the roof quickly and get home again. Jesus wanted to Teach us! We had to look at the truth of ourselves, remove blocks to Jesus, let Him get through, in the hope that we could begin the physical work.

We lived in a cave-like building site, full of dust. We had the luxury of one private toilet/bathroom, which the previous crew did not have. There was no TV, smartphones, or worldly distractions. There was no room to escape to, no home to run off to, we were there, forced in a way to either 'fight' our self or get the next 'flight' home.

How much homage I gave it

Being away from the world, I saw how much homage I gave it and how little I gave to Jesus. I glimpsed at how selfish I was, how I loved myself more than Jesus and anybody else, failing to even think of others, never mind love them. I learned how I was being greedy at meal times. I had to be reminded that we were a community and we had to put others before ourselves. There was one toilet and bathroom shared between six of us and we usually all showered on a Saturday evening. We needed to take our turn as fast as possible, using the minimum hot water, thinking of those who might need to use the toilet and also trying to save enough hot water for the next person coming along behind us. We lived in austerity - in comparison to the nice, comfortable, roomy homes we left in Ireland.

Allow Jesus' Love

A challenge was presented to me to not use my lady shave. Did I love Jesus enough to go into town with my hairy armpits and legs? Would I wear clothes that covered my hairiness or did I love Jesus enough to not care about the world?

Would I share my expensive shampoo with my community or would I keep it all for myself?

When visitors came, would I love and serve them or would I do what I really longed to do: head off up the hills for some 'me time' when all were distracted?

My major problem was I got resentful when the truth was pointed out to me and I had to learn to master my thoughts, my emotions, allow Jesus' Love to come out of me, asking Him to help me see the truth of myself and love the person who spoke it. Would I receive this truth as a Gift from Jesus to help me get closer to Him?

No sacrifice in our lives

During the initial days when it rained, Patrick suggested doing an offering for Jesus. One of us was to give up reading novels, another eating breakfast, another using their hands when they were talking (this was hilarious because you could see his thumbs moving in the pockets of his jeans when he tried really hard not to), another was not washing their face in the morning and, I must say, Patrick gave himself the hardest sacrifice: not drinking coffee!

Jesus quickly pointed out to us that our protests about having to die to self revealed that we had no sacrifice in our lives!

Wednesday 8 May 2002

"Children, so much you give to the world in homage, so much you give that is Mine. I discipline you because you ask for it but yet, when it comes, you look askance that I would do such a thing. Are you really for Me or are you against Me?"

In these days, I try to take off your outer layers so that you may see the fruit within you, so that you may follow Me the better. I try to show you what you need to sell in order to come My Way but when it happens, you show only the true colours of self. These Teachings, My children, are harsh because I must use methods that will show you what the self does to you, a self that is left unchecked, to go its own way. The hurt that you feel is not My Teaching but self protesting about having to die. The pain is yours, child, caused by the many years that you have been away from Me and attached to self.

I say to you, children, the tasks that you were set were difficult for you because you have no sacrifice in your lives. You do not understand that in order to sacrifice you must hurt in order for self to be rattled on its throne. You only understand in these tasks that My servant set them for you. You have not thought that it was I giving them to you and helping you to come closer to Me. You saw only My servant and not Me. In this way, are you following Me? I Love you."

In battle with self

Our time was intense, we were in battle with self constantly. We had to relentlessly question ourselves and we always knew when we had failed because the work was stopped by Jesus or evil spirits came in causing chaos. Soledad House of Prayer is so special to Jesus and our work was spiritual more than physical. Truth and Obedience were the forcefield to keep the mischievous tempters out.

Also, at the same time, Jesus was speaking to us like we were the only friends He had in the world. He had been kicked out of the Vatican, and everywhere in society He was treated like a criminal. We longed to welcome Him with our dying to self. The more we battled, the more our hearts expanded to hold Him and comfort Him and love Him.

A benchmark in my life

When I got home, I was a changed person! My parents couldn't believe the transformation in me, I was less selfish and more considerate to them. I also felt I had more love in me, so much so, I took a job in a nursing home because I wanted to give this love away, it was bursting out of me.

It all quickly dried up again as I let myself have this little treat and that little treat and I am as selfish and worldly as ever again.

But the memory of that time of dying to self intensely has certainly become a benchmark in my life.

A Journey beyond journeys

Soledad was unique. Jesus was our close and intimate Friend. As much as I try at home to die to self intensely, I fail quickly.

It is harder to keep up the fight on a constant basis, dying to every sin, every temptation, every attachment, fighting the first thought, not allowing myself any pleasure but giving it to someone else, really loving every person I encounter, going out of my way to help them, especially those I don't like... But I know that when I do, Jesus can take me on a Journey beyond journeys, that 'Path' He constantly calls us to walk upon.

It's like the veil of blindness or darkness tears within us and we are able to soar with Him. If we seek Him, we will find Him. We know the Way. He has told us a million times. We just have to step over that threshold and into His Loving, Patient, open Arms.

...This House that you are in is a teaching ground but it is also a killing field – a killing field where your self dies and your soul lives because of it. None of you here realize the significance of your time here, you will have cause to remember it; you will have cause to remember the things you have been taught. I ask of you to remember it and live it...

Be clothed with Him

This is an excerpt from Cardinal Burke's homily on the Feast of Our Lady of Guadalupe, 12 December 2023

Ill-defined synodal way

"Many today violently rebel against God Who reveals Himself to us through reason and, most fully and perfectly, through the Catholic faith. The rebellion has beguiled even members of Christ's Mystical Body, leading them to abandon Christ and His Way, leading them to apostasy.

What are we to do? What is the Church to do?

Some, even among Bishops, would tell us that the Church has to change her doctrine, her Sacred Worship, and her discipline, in order to accommodate the culture. They talk about a necessary paradigm shift or an ill-defined synodal way which declares that all are welcome in the Church without making clear the conversion to Christ which is necessary to be a member of His Mystical Body.

No wedding garment

They forget that the king in the Parable of the Wedding Feast, who had welcomed all, “the good and the bad,” to the marriage feast for his son, when he saw “a man who had no wedding garment,” had the man cast out from the banquet. Our Lord concludes the Parable of the Wedding Feast with the admonition: “Many are called, but few are chosen.” Yes, Our Lord wants all of us to share in the banquet of divine grace, but we cannot do so unless our hearts, one with the Immaculate Heart of Mary, rest in His Most Sacred Heart, unless we allow ourselves to be clothed with Him in our daily life.

I am with you

The way of the Church in today’s crisis is the same as it has always been. The teaching of the Deposit of Faith and of all the riches of the Catholic Faith, daily prayer and worship of God “in spirit and in truth,” and a good and holy daily life.

Before the great challenge of our time, Pope Saint John Paul II cautioned us that we will not save ourselves and our world by discovering “some magic formula” or by “inventing a new programme.” In unmistakable terms, he declared: “No, we shall not be saved by a formula but by a Person, and the assurance which he gives us: I am with you.”

The plan found in the Gospel

He reminded us that the program by which we are to address effectively the great spiritual challenges of our time is, in the end, Jesus Christ alive for us in the Church. He explained:

“The programme already exists: it is the plan found in the Gospel and in the living Tradition, it is the same as ever. Ultimately, it has its center in Christ himself, who is to be known, loved and imitated, so that in him we may live the life of the Trinity, and with him transform history until its fulfillment in the heavenly Jerusalem. This is a program which does not change with shifts of times and cultures, even though it takes account of time and culture for the sake of true dialogue and effective communication.”

In short, the program leading to freedom and happiness is, for each of us, holiness of life, in accord with our state in life and the particular gifts with which God has endowed us.”

Life went on for Joseph and Mary after the locusts as it had done before. They were settled into their way of life in Egypt. Every morning Joseph would put on his prayer shawl and pray; at evening, he would do the same. They fell into a routine of waking, working and sleeping. They were left alone by the Egyptians and did not seek contact with them only in trading and for Joseph to sell or mend furniture, for friendship with Absalom and Shelomith and the other Jews who lived there was enough for them. They visited each other and remained friends.

The carpenter plied his trade among the people and was able to live comfortably with his wife and child. Joseph did not become rich for he could not charge the full amount that his work deserved but simply charged what they could afford. He became very popular among the poorer citizens of the area. Joseph was soon able to build on a small workshop to the right of the house and it eased the burden of working in and around the house. He soon learned some of the language with everyday use and was able to communicate. Joseph was an honest man and many came to respect him.

Mary tended her crops and fruits and soon discovered new plants and how to grow them. She too, learned the language and was able to barter and trade with the best of the women. Her life revolved around her son and her husband.

The desert fascinated Mary. Its stillness reminded her of God. God was the stillness that penetrated her and she could feel sometimes His presence with her. At these times, she stopped what she was doing and felt, just felt. It was a deep stillness that penetrated and could take your breath away in its stark clarity. Sometimes Joseph would find her like this and at first had asked her if she was all right. Now he knew and left her to these moments. It seemed that the Living God simply wanted her to experience that presence for her to touch it with her life, with her soul. His love for her was a real thing; a reality that came now and again and it seemed to fill her with knowledge of him. At these times her heart would be on fire as though he had set it alight and from it came the sparks of his Love. It was tangible, definitive. She looked east out over the desert and it seemed delicate, yet harsh. The shimmering heat distorted the view and something about it seemed ethereal. She could see an iridescence that looked like water in the distance as though a spiritual thing hovered over it. She knew it was a mirage but it was still beautiful. She thought about Scripture and was reminded of Abraham when the three men walked towards him. She felt that they walked out of such as this. They were Angels of the Lord and they had told Abraham that Sarah would have a child even though she was past childbearing age. It reminded her of her own visitation from on high. When she looked back now, the events seemed strange and unreal but she had lived through the reality of it all. She was living in Egypt because of it. The child was growing rapidly and at eighteen months was walking. The first steps that he had taken had been a joy to her heart and she and

Joseph had laughed with the child when he fell, only to pick himself up and try again. He was a quiet child who learned quickly. He was often in the workshop with his father and was quiet and watchful of everything that Joseph was doing.

Mary looked at Jesus. His hair was growing and would be like hers; dark eyes that shone like the sun and could penetrate; could hold you softly in their gaze. He was playing in the shade of a young Myrtle tree; its glossy leaves caught the sunlight and its white flowers wafted fragrance into the air. She could feel her heart swell with love for the child. Simeon had said that a sword would pierce her heart. She knew that he had meant suffering. Was it because of Jesus she would suffer? She did not feel any suffering now. She was happy. She went over to the child, picked him up and kissed him.

The sun seemed hotter in Egypt than it had been in Israel and every day seemed to run into the other and their lives were blessed with good crops and good friends. They had helped in any way they could after the locusts had destroyed the crops of everyone. All had marvelled and had spoken of the miracle. They longed to return to their homeland. Mary had not been able to inform Anne, her mother, of this journey and she would wonder what had happened to them. She longed for her mother too. Mary wanted her mother to see the child.

John Paul II

APOSTOLIC LETTER: NOVO MILLENNIO INEUNTE
Of his Holiness Pope John Paul II to the bishops, clergy and lay faithful at the close of the Great Jubilee of the year 2000

20. How had Peter come to this faith? And what is asked of us, if we wish to follow in his footsteps with ever greater conviction? Matthew gives us an enlightening insight in the words with which Jesus accepts Peter's confession: "Flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but my Father who is in heaven" (16:17). The expression "flesh and blood" is a reference to man and the common way of understanding things. In the case of Jesus, this common way is not enough. A grace of "revelation" is needed, which comes from the Father (cf. ibid.). Luke gives us an indication which points in the same direction when he notes that this dialogue with the disciples took place when Jesus "was praying alone" (Lk 9:18). Both indications converge to make it clear that we cannot come to the fullness of contemplation of the Lord's face by our own efforts alone, but by allowing grace to take us by the hand. Only the experience of silence and prayer offers the proper setting for the growth and development of a true, faithful and consistent knowledge of that mystery which finds its culminating expression in the solemn proclamation by the Evangelist Saint John: "And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, full of grace and truth; we have beheld his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father" (1:14).

The depth of the mystery

21. The Word and the flesh, the divine glory and his dwelling among us! It is in the intimate and inseparable union of these two aspects that Christ's identity is to be found, in accordance with the classic formula of the Council of Chalcedon: "one person in two natures". The person is that, and that alone, of the Eternal Word, the Son of the Father. The two natures, without any confusion whatsoever, but also without any possible separation, are the divine and the human.

We know that our concepts and our words are limited. The formula, though always human, is nonetheless carefully measured in its doctrinal content, and it enables us, albeit with trepidation, to gaze in some way into the depths of the mystery. Yes, Jesus is true God and true man! Like the Apostle

Thomas, the Church is constantly invited by Christ to touch his wounds, to recognize, that is, the fullness of his humanity taken from Mary, given up to death, transfigured by the Resurrection: "Put your finger here, and see my hands; and put out your hand, and place it in my side" (Jn 20:27). Like Thomas, the Church bows down in adoration before the Risen One, clothed in the fullness of his divine splendour, and never ceases to exclaim: "My Lord and my God!" (Jn 20:28).

22. "The Word became flesh" (Jn 1:14). This striking formulation by John of the mystery of Christ is confirmed by the entire New Testament. The Apostle Paul takes this same approach when he affirms that the Son of God was born "of the race of David, according to the flesh" (cf. Rom 1:3; cf. 9:5). If today, because of the rationalism found in so much of contemporary culture, it is above all faith in the divinity of Christ that has become problematic, in other historical and cultural contexts there was a tendency to diminish and do away with the historical concreteness of Jesus' humanity. But for the Church's faith it is essential and indispensable to affirm that the Word truly "became flesh" and took on every aspect of humanity, except sin (cf. Heb 4:15). From this perspective, the incarnation is truly a kenosis - a "self-emptying" - on the part of the Son of God of that glory which is his from all eternity (Phil 2:6-8; cf. 1 Pt 3:18). On the other hand, this abasement of the Son of God is not an end in itself; it tends rather towards the full glorification of Christ, even in his humanity: "Therefore God has highly exalted him and bestowed on him the name which is above every name, that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father" (Phil 2:9-11).

23. "Your face, O Lord, I seek" (Ps 27:8). The ancient longing of the Psalmist could receive no fulfilment greater and more surprising than the contemplation of the face of Christ. God has truly blessed us in him and has made "his face to shine upon us" (Ps 67:1). At the same time, God and man that he is, he reveals to us also the true face of man, "fully revealing man to man himself".

Jesus is "the new man" (cf. Eph 4:24; Col 3:10) who calls redeemed humanity to share in his divine life. The mystery of the Incarnation lays the foundations for an anthropology which, reaching beyond its own limitations and contradictions, moves towards God himself, indeed towards the goal of "divinization". This occurs through the grafting of the redeemed on to Christ and their admission into the intimacy of the Trinitarian life. The Fathers have laid great stress on this soteriological dimension of the mystery of the Incarnation: it is only because the Son of God truly became man that man, in him and through him, can truly become a child of God.

The Plight of Others

DISABLED CHILDREN MURDERED

In the UK, we have yet another baby murdered by the British government who denied her treatment and kept her captive - preventing her from going to Italy who offered her treatment.

How many more children need to be murdered before the people of the UK show enough outrage to reclaim parental rights? The following article was written by Cassy Fiano-Chesser and published by 'Liveaction.'

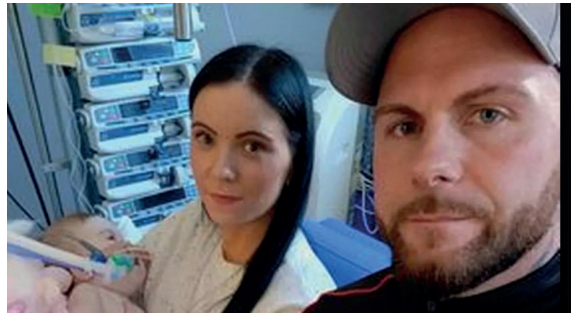

BABY INDI GREGORY HAS DIED AFTER BEING REMOVED FROM LIFE SUPPORT

Indi Gregory, a baby diagnosed with a mitochondrial disease, has died after a UK judge ruled her life support could be removed against her parents' wishes.

Doctors at Nottingham University Hospital's NHS [National Health Service] Foundation Trust claimed Indi needed to be removed from life support so as not to prolong the process of her death. Her parents disagreed, though, arguing that Indi was disabled — not dying.

Give her a chance

"Our daughter responds to us, and on her good days she is babbling, making noises, moving all her limbs. She can definitely experience happiness. She cries like a normal baby," her parents said in a statement last month. "We know she is disabled, but you don't just let disabled people die. We just want to give her a chance."

Italy granted Indi citizenship

Amid a court battle to save Indi's life, Italy granted Indi citizenship, and the Vatican City's children's hospital, Bambino Gesù, said it was willing to provide Indi care. "They say there isn't much hope for little Indi, but until the end I will do what I can to defend her life. And to defend her mum and dad's right to do everything they can for her," Italian Prime Minister Giorgia Meloni said.

However, that request to care for Indi was denied by Mr. Justice Robert Peel. "There is nothing to suggest that Indi Gregory's prognosis would be beneficially altered by the Italian hospital's treatment," he said, arguing that it was in Indi's best interest to die instead. Her parents appealed that decision, but a judge denied that request as well.

liveactionorg "Deeply saddened to share that Baby Indi has passed away, after being deprived breathing assistance."

Let us be clear: the British government murdered her. They denied the right of Indi's parents to pursue other treatment for her, keeping her captive by the court mandated medical team that decided Indi must die. The medical team violated their sacred duty to Do No Harm.

This is murder, plain and simple. It's a stain on the national conscience of the United Kingdom. There must be a reckoning, there must be reform, and there must be reparations for the evil acts committed by both the medical teams and the UK courts.

Taking Indi's body and dignity

Just days later, Indi's life support was removed and she passed away on November 13.

"Indi's life ended at 01.45am. Claire and I are angry, heartbroken, and ashamed. The NHS and the Courts not only took away her chance to live a longer life, but they also took away Indi's dignity to pass away in the family home where she belonged," her father, Dean Gregory, said in a statement. "They did succeed in taking Indi's body and dignity, but they can never take her soul. They tried to get rid of Indi without anybody knowing, but we made sure she would be remembered forever. I knew she was special from the day she was born. Claire held her for her final breaths."

Refuse to allow parents to make medical decisions

Sadly, the plight suffered by the Gregory family is becoming increasingly common, as British hospitals and courts refuse to allow parents to make medical decisions for their children. S.T., a British teenager, died after she was denied the ability to receive treatment, even as she passionately said she wanted to spend her last days fighting to live. Little Charlie Gard had also been diagnosed with a mitochondrial condition and died against his parents' wishes. Baby Alfie Evans was likewise killed by the British system, which spent $188,000 USD ensuring that he died.

Offer many Prayers and Sacrifices

'Year of the Houses'

Jesus gave a Message at the beginning of 2023 that it was the 'Year of the Houses' and much has happened since then. A busy year has passed in Saint Michael's and slowly we are moving towards the second stage of the building work here at the House of Prayer.

After obtaining planning permission for this work in September, on the Feast of the Exaltation of the Cross, we had to wait again for a Party Wall Agreement with the neighbours at either side. This seemed to be taking a long time and we felt at a standstill. During this time, Jesus asked in several Messages to pray and sacrifice for the Houses.

My Houses are not prepared

On 11 October 2023, Jesus said: "The Day of My Houses fast approaches and My Houses are not prepared. I have asked for your help many times but, it is the same few who respond to My calls. Children, is it too much to ask for a simple prayer for My Houses? Show Me that you want these, My Houses of Prayer and I shall respond to your prayers."

On 13 October 2023, He spoke again of His Houses: "Children, the greatest help you can give is to offer many prayers and sacrifices and so then I can inspire those with the means to help physically and financially but, I need many to ask for help in free will through prayer and sacrifice."

On 23 October 2023, He said "Once again, I call you to prepare My Houses of Prayer, children. They are in great need of prayer and sacrifice. I call to you, My children, pray and offer many sacrifices for the Day of My Houses fast approaches and they are not prepared."

A Rosary Novena

So here at Saint Michael's we decided to say a Rosary Novena for the work to continue again here and also for the repairs of the other Houses in Europe. A rosary every day, 27 days in petition and 27 days in thanksgiving. On the last day of petition, we got news that the surveyor had made appointments to visit the neighbours' houses so the Party Wall Agreement could be drawn up.

These appointments have since taken place, so thankfully, in the near future, work will be able to recommence for the next stage. We thank everyone for all your prayers and sacrifices for Saint Michael's and all the other Houses of Prayer. And we hope you all had a very happy, holy Christmas and have a peaceful New Year.

Please continue to keep the work in your prayers so Jesus' Houses will be ready as He has asked. God Bless.

First get to know Me

Tuesday 31 December 2002

Patrick:

Jesus, You say to us, 'I stretch out My Hand to you, come follow Me!' Many, many people say to us, 'but how do we follow what Jesus wants?'

Our answer is to tell them to basically follow in Your Footsteps by obedience to the Laws of the Holy Mother Church and, to follow what You have said and done in the Gospels. People many times thank us and walk away, yet we know they did not understand. Jesus, would You explain simply how someone, let's say, that goes to Mass sometimes but never really prays and feels that they want to get to know You better. How do they begin?

Jesus:

My son, I thank you, for coming to Me, I Love you.

This, My son, is a good question but a simple one. Many times, in each of My children's lives, they will feel My Spirit call to them. The greatest majority of these calls go unanswered. If one of My children decide to answer My call, then the Path begins.

To have a relationship with Me, you must first get to know Me. This is done through spending time in prayer. If you do not spend time in prayer, then, before long, you shall leave the call of My Spirit and return to the world. Prayer is a time of getting to know Me; a time of learning. If My pupil perseveres in prayer, their soul will begin to shine, and their desire to follow Me shall become greater.

Prayer is talking, listening and loving. Prayer is communication with My Spirit. My Spirit will Teach the soul a new way of life; a life of love and self denial. This is the most important time.

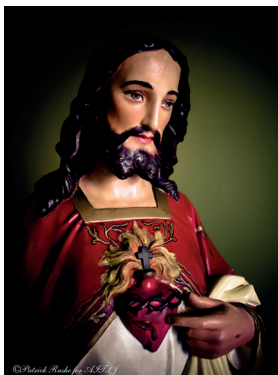

It is the time when humility is taught. The soul must be willing to humble itself before its God and before its brothers and sisters. Humility is only learned in dying to self. Dying to self is denying the body the pleasures of this world. It must be unseen to others. If the soul decides to offer Me the sacrifice of fasting and goes to visit a friend, and the friend offers to feed this child of Mine, then they must eat what is set before them and offer this to Me as part of their fast.

All must be done in secret, so that only the child and My Spirit knows of the desire to die to self. For in this time pride will be your greatest enemy. The more the soul denies itself, the more strengthened its faith becomes, the more light shall shine forth. The denial of self is a difficult time to begin. The body constantly cries out and rebels against self denial, but if the soul perseveres, it will become easier as time passes for the child will constantly be given Graces from My Spirit.

In order to persevere through this time, prayer is most important. Prayer is your refuge and your strength in this time. You shall be filled with an ardent desire to follow Me, through your prayer. Be aware, always, that the enemy is at the door. he shall try to break you in this time of learning, but through prayer and sacrifice he can be held at bay.

This is only the beginning of the Journey of true life in Me. As the child progresses in Truth, then the fruits of My Spirit shall come to the fore. And, through your actions, he shall bring others to My Side.

Very few have ever followed this Path that I speak of, in Truth. It is a difficult Path; full of much hardship and suffering. But it is a Path filled with great Peace and great joy; a Path of loving and knowing one's God. The deeper the soul continues along this Path, then the greater their joy is in Me. Even when I allow the soul to enter the wilderness, still the joy remains. The wilderness is a time of purification for the soul. A dark time, when they can neither feel Me or know Me. It is a time of battle, a time that is filled with Grace and cleansing. The soul that enters this time and still remains faithful to Me, is given much.

After this time, you may ask anything in My Name and it shall be given. For all that remains within the soul is Truth; My Truth. The soul's greatest desire is that I should be lifted up in the sight of all men, that My Father should be glorified through Me.

How I desire to walk with My children. How I desire to fill them with these Graces that I speak of, for most who enter the wilderness, do not resist the temptation of lucifer for long. Most walk away from Me in this time. They feel that they are gaining nothing. For constantly, My children only desire self. If self has not truly been died to, then you cannot walk the dark night of the soul and survive.

Letters to the HoP

Cured by the Holy Oil

Dear all at the House of Prayer,
Thank you all for all the hard work in sending out the fantastic Newsletter containing the Messages by Jesus.

I am writing to you with great news, that my left knee was cured by the Holy Oil Blessed by Jesus from osteoarthritis. My right knee is painful now but I have faith in Jesus that He will heal my right knee is His time.

God Bless you all.

P.S. Please can you send me some more Oil.

Paul

Really appreciated

Dear community of the Sacred Heart House of Prayer,

Thank you so much for all your kindness to me (and everyone else)
on the recent two Patricks' retreat.
The welcome, the food, the beauty of the prayers and Holy Mass, and kindness in bringing me rugs and tea for warmth was really appreciated. It was also very refreshing for me to be able to join the Pro-Life walk, towards which no hostility was shown! (It has been different in Glasgow!)

Just to let you know, in case you're interested, I've a Pro-Life lyric video on YouTube called 'Pro-life song: Blessed is the fruit of your womb'. God Bless you always with love, thanks and blessings.

Alice

The Great Day of the Lord

¹ “For behold, the day comes,
burning like an oven,
when all the arrogant
and all evildoers will be stubble;
the day that comes shall burn them up,
says the Lord of hosts,
so that it will leave them
neither root nor branch.

² But for you who fear my name
the sun of righteousness shall rise, with healing in its wings.
You shall go forth
leaping like calves from the stall.
³ And you shall tread down the wicked,
for they will be ashes
under the soles of your feet,
on the day when I act,
says the Lord of hosts.

Malachi 4:1-3
